BRANDING AND PR EXPERIENCES

I'm fascinated by brands because I believe humans always need stories, and values and perspectives can be guided, shaped, and enhanced by great brands.

We have experienced three major marketing eras:

1.0 – Distribution Marketing Era: Companies relied on distribution channels to achieve success.
2.0 – Digital Marketing Era: Media channels enabled brands to reach consumers more efficiently and accelerate the conversion process.
3.0 – AI Era: With AI automating basic tasks and products becoming increasingly similar due to rapid iteration and technological advances, I believe we are now returning to the fundamentals of human emotional needs. Brands will succeed by being loved—through differentiation, storytelling, and authentic branding.

Storytelling and brand building are core skills that are deeply embedded in both my experience and my beliefs.
