BRANDING AND PR EXPERIENCES

I'm fascinated by brands because I believe humans always need stories, and values and perspectives can be guided, shaped, and enhanced by great brands.

We have experienced three major marketing eras:

1.0 – Distribution Marketing Era: Companies relied on distribution channels to achieve success.

2.0 – Digital Marketing Era: Media channels enabled brands to reach consumers more efficiently and accelerate the conversion process.

3.0 – AI Era: With AI automating basic tasks and products becoming increasingly similar due to rapid iteration and technological advances, I believe we are now returning to the fundamentals of human emotional needs. Brands will succeed by being choosed—through differentiation, authentic storytelling, and enmotional sentiment.

Storytelling and branding are core skills that are deeply embedded in both my experience and my beliefs.

- Here are some brands I had mainly worked with.

Shiseido X Wagas brands collaboration

Collaborated with Wagas to integrate Shiseido's skincare products into lifestyle spaces by highlighting the shared stories of both brands, creating an on-site experiential campaign that highlighted product benefits and boosted brand visibility and engagement among urban female consumers.

I led the campaign, achieving top-three media exposure among hundreds of competitors during the campaign months.

Pillar product marketing

I led the positioning and marketing of Shiseido's pillar product Ultimune, highlighting its skin immunity benefits to establish the "Skin Secure" product core message. Executed integrated online-to-offline campaigns across key channels, driving product exposure up by 45% within one year, and consistently ranking both exposure and sales at the top among competitors in the Chinese skincare/cosmetic market.

MARTELL CITY TASTE EXPLORERS

Managed and established the “Martell CITY TASTE EXPLORERS” campaign, engaging KOLs and KOCs across target cities, reinforcing MARTELL’s premium culinary positioning by combining elevated dining experiences with the brand’s heritage, and amplifying social visibility through content marketing, digital campaigns, and incentive programs.

- Generated content from different angles and purposes:
- Educational contents
 - Parents/students/alumni testimonials

Content to enhance brand credibility and loyalty

Content to generate conversions/leads

META ADS

- Led paid ads campaigns for marketing and enrollment purposes, covering audience segments, core messaging, ad creatives, budget allocation, campaign timelines, and data analytics.

CTR: Over 3.5% (1–2% higher than the education industry benchmark). Lead form CVR: 33%. Our enrollments boosted to 35% within the enrollment period.

I'm not a graphic designer, but I have supported the team to create brand assets for various marketing goals.
